

Distinguished Speakers Named For College Commencement

Dr. Paul Howard Douglas to Give Address on Monday; Dr. W. A. Shelton To Talk Sunday

Dr. Paul Howard Douglas, professor of political economy at the University of Chicago and author of more than a dozen books, will deliver the commencement address here at Alabama College on Monday, May 29.

The baccalaureate sermon on the Sunday preceding will be delivered by Dr. W. A. Shelton, Birmingham, presiding elder of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

Dr. Douglas is one of the most famous members of the University of Chicago faculty. He is the author of "Real Wages in the United States" (1930), "The Coming of a New Party" (1932), "Standards of Unemployment Insurance" (1933), "The Theory of Wages" (1934), "Controlling Depressions" (1935), "Social Security in the United States" (1936), "Cooperation in Theory and Practice" (1937), and numbers of other books.

He has served on various state and national assignments, including the Illinois Housing Commission, 1931-1933; Consumers' Advisory Board, NRA, 1933-35; and the Advisory Committee to U. S. Senate and Social Security Board on federal social security system, 1937.

Dr. Shelton

Dr. W. A. Shelton is a distinguished educator as well as denominational leader. He was president of Oklahoma Wesleyan College 1911-14, and for 16 years was a member of the faculty of Emory University. He is a former pastor of the Mount Vernon Place M. E. Church, Washington, D. C., and of Grace Church, Atlanta.

Activities of the commencement program begin Friday at 2 p.m. with the annual meeting of the Board of Trustees. At 8 p.m. the traditional reception for the governor and for members of the graduating class will be given in Main Dormitory.

Saturday will be a day of varied activities, opening with a band concert at 4 p.m., and continuing with a tea for faculty and visitors at 4:30, a Glee Club concert at 7 p.m., and presentation of "The Torch-bearers," the senior class play, at 8:15 in Palmer Auditorium.

140 Graduates

Candidates for degrees to be awarded Monday by President A. F. Harman total 140. Two-year certificates in secretarial science have been applied for by 23 others.

Calera Girl Wins Health Contest

The county-wide girls' 4-H Club health contest was held at the office of the County Health Department, Saturday, May 20.

Representatives from the various 4-H Clubs of the county were present and the winner is to represent Shelby County in the state contest to be held in Auburn on July 20.

Examinations of these contestants were made by Dr. E. F. Sloan, assisted by Miss Harbin, County Nurse, and Miss Oliver, Home Demonstration Agent.

The winner of the contest was Annie Pilgreen, of Calera Junior High School.

It is quite a coincidence that Calera Junior High should furnish the county representative again this year, as this school also produced last year's representative, Louise Johnson, who was a blue ribbon winner in the national 4-H Club contest held in Chicago last summer.

The examining committee feels confident that Annie Pilgreen will be a worthy successor to Miss Johnson, and that Shelby County will again be ably represented in the state contest.

Collins Speaks At Civic Club Meeting

"So long as we are spending $80,000,000 annually on automobiles and gasoline, $19,000,000 on tobacco, and $16,000,000 on alcoholic beverages, we are not too poor to educate our children," said Superintendent A. H. Collins during his address to the Montevallo Civic Club last week. During the course of his address, Dr. Collins analyzed the factors which have produced the present social and economic situation, and indicated by seven carefully worded propositions that the only hope for a constructive solution to such problems is to be found in a broader and enriched program of public education. "We are committed to the policy," said Dr. Collins, "that all property, wherever found, must be taxed to educate all children wherever they are. Such a proposition is fundamental to an adequate program of public education."

The Montevallo Civic Club has certainly enjoyed a series of splendid programs during the past several months, reaching a high-water mark in the recent visit of the state superintendent of education. The large membership present, the several visitors, and the excellent dinner, all contributed toward making the meeting one of unusual interest.

Auxiliary Gives Annual Mother's Day Party

The American Legion Auxiliary held its annual Mother's Day party Thursday afternoon, in the home of Mrs. M. P. Jeter, with Mrs. Lena Duran as joint hostess.

The living room was beautifully decorated with roses, poppies, and other lovely flowers, and there in the midst of these colorful floral gifts of God sat three precious mothers, God's most beautiful and most wonderful gift to mankind. Mrs. Lula Hendrick, the only Gold Star Mother of the Hendrick-Hudson Post, Mrs. Hooker, and Mrs. McLaughlin, the three guests of honor, were surrounded by their daughters and devoted friends.

Mrs. J. L. Appleton presided over a short business meeting before the program was given. The program was arranged by Mrs. Lena Duran, Mrs. A. E. Baumgartener, and Mrs. B. B. Fancher.

Mrs. Baumgartener was asked to act as leader of the program, and she introduced the program by reading an article which showed the part mothers had played in the lives of great and famous men.

Miss Mayo Baker sang the beautiful song, "Mother McCree," a song made famous by the great Irish tenor, John McCormick. Miss Baker was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Helen Clayton.

Miss Helen Louise Clayton read "Somebody's Mother," a poem full of pathos and tenderness.

Little Dorothy Ann Baumgartener recited the poem, "My Mother," one which had been given to her by (Continued on back page)

Dr. Riddle Speaks At Commencement Exercises

Dr. and Mrs. J. I. Riddle went to Bridgeport, in Jackson County, last Friday where Dr. Riddle was the speaker at the graduation exercises of the Bridgeport High School.

While in Jackson County Dr. and Mrs. Riddle made a visit of most interesting observation to Skyline Farms, which is the widely known Farm Security Administration project in the Cumberland Mountain section of Northeast Alabama.

Returning from Jackson County, they came by way of Huntsville where they visited their parents.

Monday night Dr. and Mrs. Riddle went to Thomaston, where Dr. Riddle was again speaker at commencement exercises.

Miss Rebecca Beeland, of Greenville, is a freshman beauty in The Technala, annual publication at Alabama College, which is being distributed to students this week. She has won recognition as one of the most charming of the Montevallo students during her first year. She is the daughter of Mayor and Mrs. J. T. Beeland, Greenville.

Social And Musical Affairs Of Interest Mark Commencement At College

BAPTIST CHURCH

Sunday School will begin promptly at 9:45 and will be over in time for all to go to Palmer Hall for the commencement sermon at 11 o'clock. The regular church offering will be taken at Sunday School.

The Missionary Society will meet at the church at 3 p.m. Monday. The Sunbeams will meet at 2:45 Tuesday afternoon, and the G. A. S. at 3 Wednesday afternoon.

SPRING CREEK TO OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Spring Creek will observe its annual memorial on next Sunday, May 28. This day has been used for years as memorial, homecoming, and children's day. A children's program will begin promptly at 10 o'clock, followed by a memorial message by Rev. Herring of Woodstock, and Rev. J. M. Alexander of Birmingham. At 2 o'clock there will be a homecoming "Talk Fest" by the older people.

Come on home, friends, and let's enjoy old friendships and make new ones.

Dr. Aidrich C. Crowe, who has been visiting his mother since last Wednesday, left Monday for Montgomery, and after a short visit with his friend, Mr. Fred Duran, will leave for his home in Ocean City, N. J.

Mrs. Bessie Hoskin left Sunday afternoon to visit her brother, Mr. C. C. Day, in Selma.

STORES WILL CLOSE THURSDAY AFTERNOONS

Miss Jacque Battle advises that it is a part of the union contract that stores and places of business in Montevallo will close for a half holiday every Thursday afternoon, beginning June 1 and continuing to September 1.

Therefore, in accordance with this contract provision, it is assumed that the Thursday half holiday will begin next Thursday, June 1.

Many affairs of social and musical interest will mark the week-end of commencement at Alabama College, May 26-29.

Among events will be the annual reception for the governor and members of the graduating class on Friday night, the Senior-Alumnae breakfast, the class advisers' tea for the seniors, the band and glee club concerts, the senior class play on Saturday, and an informal tea in Ramsay Hall Sunday afternoon.

At the reception Friday evening, members of the senior class will march down the stairway leading into the reception hall of Main Dormitory to be presented by the president of the class, Miss Ruth Harrison of Frisco City, to President and Mrs. A. F. Harman, trustees and distinguished guests, Dean and Mrs. T. H. Napier, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Wills, and to the advisers of the class, who are Miss Katherine Vickery, Miss Josephine Eddy, and Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Hood.

Music for the occasion will be furnished by the College Orchestra conducted by Mr. York Kildea.

Presiding over the coffee tables in the two parlors leading from the reception hall will be Miss Myrtle Brooke, Miss Dawn Kennedy, Miss Lois Ackerley, and Miss Rosa Lee Jackson, assisted by Miss Margaret Cuninggim, Miss Lillian Worley, Miss Walma Baugh, and Miss Minnie Barker.

Punch tables on the terrace will be presided over by Miss Ellen-Haven Gould, Miss Abi Russell, Miss Margaret McCall, and Miss Minnie Steckel, assisted by Miss Joyce Kellogg, Miss Helen Hewell, Miss Blanchann Fraser, and Miss Virginia Kennedy.

Alumnae Breakfast

The Alumnae Association of Alabama College will honor the graduating class at a breakfast in the senior dining room on Saturday morning. Among those present will be Mrs. S. R. Gibbons, president of the Alumnae Association, alumnae who are residents of Montevallo, Dr. and Mrs. Harman, Dr. and Mrs. Napier, the senior class, and a number of out-of-town alumnae. Miss Frances Ribble, alumnae secretary, will preside over the affair. Seniors will be formally in-

Writer Conclave Will Meet Here On June 20-24

Dr. Kilpatrick and Mrs. Sheehan Shaping Program For This Year's Conference

With Dr. Emmett Kilpatrick of Troy State Teachers College, the distinguished and alert president of the Alabama Writers Conclave, and Elizabeth Winston Sheehan of Montgomery, busy and indefatigable in their efforts to have this year's conclave—scheduled for June 20-24—contribute greatly to the cultural and literary advancement of the state, a few announcements regarding the development of the program seem pertinent.

Mrs. Sheehan as program chairman has selected Dr. George Lang of the University of Alabama as dean of the prose section, and this part of the conclave program will be given June 23 at 9 a.m. with Dr. Lang as dean, presiding. First on this program will be discussed "The Meaning of Prose," by Dr. Howard Mason of the University of Alabama; second will be "The Novelist's Prose," as viewed by Harriet Hassell; third, "The Prose of Exposition" will be ably presented by Miss Emily Calcott of the State Teachers College at Troy. Immediately following will come the round table discussion led by Dr. Lang.

R. F. Hudson, Jr., of Montgomery, will act as dean of journalism and will direct the program on this subject. The freedom and tendency of the press is usually a lively and highly debatable topic and the program of the section of journalism is often one of the best.

Other deans announced by Mrs. Sheehan are dean of drama, Mrs. Ruby L. Aspey, of Birmingham; dean of poetry, Mrs. Kathleen L. Sutton of Anniston; dean of music, Miss Mathilde Bilbro of Birmingham; dean of the juvenile section, Miss Douglass Ilsen, of Jacksonville, Fla.; and dean of round-table discussions, Mrs. Esther Barrett Argo, Birmingham.

From all sections of Alabama, writers, artists, musicians, teachers, and citizens interested in the advancement of the cultural life of the state will come to Alabama College at Montevallo in June to learn what Alabamians are accomplishing in a creative and artistic way. All citizens who are interested and would like to attend are urged to do so and to make reservations at the college at an early date. Dr. and Mrs. A. F. Harman will be official hosts and extend a cordial invitation to the Writers Conclave and their friends.

Young Methodists To Hold Assembly

Methodist young people from practically all churches in the North Alabama Conference are expected to gather at Alabama College for their annual Young People's Assembly June 1-7.

Rev. Herschel T. Hamser, assembly dean, said Wade Bradley has been named president of the conference officers for 1939, with Kelly Ingram as vice president; L. E. Newberry, secretary; Charles Turner, treasurer; and George Hamner, publicity superintendent.

Assisting Mr. Hamner in promoting the assembly will be Dr. M. M. Davidson, host presiding elder; Rev. V. H. Hawkins, executive secretary of the Methodist Board of Education, and Rev. J. M. Shores, host pastor at Montevallo.

THE DIAL TELEPHONES

We will have the dial telephones in operation by the end of July, according to letters that have been sent to all subscribers by Mr. Graves. Well, that means we must learn how to get along with another one of science's latest gadgets. A happy phase of the change-over is the statement that the new phones will be put in some time before the old ones are taken out. Goody! That will give us time to practice a while and perhaps become so efficient that out fingers will not slip out of socket when we go to spin the dial.

MINERS BACK TO WORK

This part of the country is in better spirits now that the coal miners of the Cahaba field have gone back to work. It puts a very definite quietus on business around here when the mine payrolls stop. And this same curtailment of business means that the living comforts and requirements of many men and their families are restricted to a degree below their normal usage. Everybody feels better.

SARA SAYS FAREWELL

Impressive is this statement from Miss Sara Shore in this week's College Bulletin: "Farewell — Best wishes. A few days before leaving the college it is a pleasure for me to express my gratitude to the administration, faculty, staff, and fellow-students who have contributed with their kindness and thoughtfulness to make my stay so perfectly pleasant. Farewell and best wishes to all."

Miss Shore has been far from home during her year at Montevallo. She lives in Buenos Aires, Argentina. The distance may not have mattered so much, but her difference of nationality, our "strange" customs and perhaps puzzling language and ways could have put her in a very lonesome atmosphere. Happily, it did not work that way. Sara was the kind of person who readily adjusts herself to her surroundings; and another fine thing about it was that she had nine hundred college associates who were sympathetic when necessary—not curious and piquant—ever ready with an unconscious and unfeigned cordiality which absorbed the South American and made her, to all outward appearances, just another one of the happy, lovely, ambitious, playful, serious, charming Alabama girls who gather a life-long spell of charm from their years at Alabama College.

Sara goes to New York for a couple of months. Thence to her home in Argentina, where she will engage in teaching. Farewell—Best wishes.

WELL, WHAT NEXT?

We wonder what possessed the exchange editor of the Birmingham News one day this week when he reprinted an editorial from the Shelby County Reporter and credited it "Shelby County Reporter (Clanton)." Reckon the editor who did that is the same one who has established the society for locating the geographical center of Alabama? It must be, because Chilton County claims the center of the state, too.

SPACE KILLER?

Note to the newspaper boys of the Alabama country: Many of you are featuring Jack Garner as the presidential candidate for 1940. I wonder what you will say and do when the Roosevelt third term boom bursts upon you. I suppose, though, you can make excuse for printing Garner's picture by saying you were just playing, or merely printing it because it was one of those handy things that come along occasionally to fill up a space that you had nothing else to go in.

COTTON

This is Cotton Week. One week is not enough. We ought to make every week Cotton Week.

We should demand the use of cotton for everything in the world it can be used for.

The people of the South should be zealous for cotton. We should "crank up" on the use of cotton.

Cotton is the backbone of the South and we should give it strength by more general use.

Think how foolish we are to buy and use jute bags and strings from India when at the same time we grow cotton and expect to sell it to get money to keep us going.

No wonder the rest of the country pays no attention to our cotton problem. We do not even take it seriously and sensibly ourselves.

Cotton Week!

If we could make such a fuss about cotton as to get the people of this country to use and demand it wherever it can be used, we would not long be worried about cotton surpluses and cotton exports.

CALERA GROWS 'EM HEALTHY

Annie Pilgreen, high school girl and 4-H Club member, of Calera, has been declared the healthiest girl in Shelby County for this year. Louise Johnson, another Calera girl, carried the honor last year, and her recognition extended through county, state, and national competitions.

KEEP ACCURATE FARM RECORDS, DAVIS ASKS

Auburn, Ala. — The next census will be taken in 1940, and if farmers to cooperate to the fullest extent in this important national undertaking, they will need a good set of records for their farms this year. P. O. Davis, director of the Alabama Extension Service, points out. The census will cover 1939 crop acreage and production, classes of livestock and livestock products, uses of land, items of farm finance, expenditures and facilities, according to information Mr. Davis has received from the Bureau of the Census.

It is vital to the interest of every farmer and farm woman and everyone else that up-to-date, accurate figures along these lines be obtained on a county, state, and national basis, such as is done in the census.

He explained that the records will be helpful to farmers in many other ways, and that county agents would be glad to help start a good set of records on every farm in the respective counties.

Corn loans offered to cooperating farmers in the AAA have proved to be a successful means of protecting prices by holding surplus corn off the market until needed.

More Farmers In AAA Are Expected

Banks, Ala.—More farmers are expected to participate in the 1939 AAA farm program than in any year since the beginning of the farm programs in 1933, believes W. B. Crawley, member of the state AAA committee.

A recent statement of Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, based on reports of intended participation from the states, disclosed that nearly 6,000,000 families will receive AAA payments in 1939. This represents about 85 per cent of all farm families in the United States.

The reports also indicate that participation in this year's program will include approximately 92 per cent of the farms in the cotton growing areas, 80 per cent in the commercial corn and wheat areas, between 70 and 80 per cent in the tobacco, rice, and potato areas, and 80 per cent of all commercial dairy men.

Approximately 80 per cent of all farm land and approximately 70 per cent of all privately-owned range and pasture land in the United States will be included in the triple-A program this year.

In Alabama, about 1,200,000 farmers have indicated their intention to participate in the program, says Crawley. This includes around 90 per cent of all farmers in the state.

Farmers now pay city people something like $1,500,000,000 annually for power and power machinery, whereas, before the World War, they sold power in the form of work animals worth several hundred million dollars annually.—Report of the Secretary of Agriculture, 1938.

PLACES TO FISH

A free bulletin, "Places to Fish in Alabama," is now available to the public through the Game and Fish Division of the Department of Conservation. Designed to bring together the people who fish and the people who operate fishing camps, the bulletin contains detailed information about fishing camps in all sections of Alabama.

It lists the accommodations, such as cabins, picnic grounds, boats, tackle, meals, etc., giving the price of each. Location of resort and kind of fish to be caught also are given, as well as highway routes and name of owner or operator. This is another of the department's services to sportsmen, and free copies may be obtained by writing Editor of Publications, Conservation Department, Montgomery, Ala.

Speech Banquet

The thrilling activities of the speech department of Montevallo High School terminated Monday night with a banquet at the Plaza Grill, given in honor of Miss Loretta Skelly, the teacher. The toastmaster, Ray M. Atchison, cleverly introduced each guest as some famous person. The idea was "America is a land of after-dinner speakers," and was certainly verified by the speeches from each guest. This was truly the high-light of the year for Montevallo's speech classes.

Adult Classes Will Be Continued Next Year

When coming to the end of an installment of a story, we hate to see "to be continued," but we are sure to get the next copy so that we won't miss out on anything. That's the way we hope you who have been attending the adult homemaking class at the high school home economics department feel about it and will be eager to come back next fall.

The adult class in the unit on managing the family's food has studied essential foods for our families, an easy guest meal, food to have on an emergency shelf, and a very interesting and helpful field trip to the market was made, where a lecture was given on how to buy meats.

Next year we will continue the study in food for the family, but also we hope to have homemaking classes in two or three different units, such as interior decoration, consumer education, clothing for the family, and any other unit in which there is a sufficient number interested.

Missionary Society Meets With Mrs. Brown

Circle No. 2 of the Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church met in the home of Mrs. S. B. Brown Monday afternoon, with Mrs. Kate Cook as joint hostess.

Mrs. Lena Duran was leader of the program, the subject being "Broadening the Horizons of the Rural Community." Quiet music, played by Mrs. J. A. Brown, marked the opening of the program.

Mrs. Duran said in her talk, "During the past few weeks of early spring, our hearts have often been aglow with gratitude for the beauty of earth and sky, of soft green valleys and widespread fields, and of the blue distant hills framing them all. Today, as we come to think together of our rural work and its ever-growing possibilities, let us praise the Giver of every good gift, for all the loveliness of life that is ours through his unflinching grace and power."

The group joined in singing "O Worship the King," after which Mrs. McConaughy read the scripture lesson. The hymn, "Break Thou the Bread of Life," was sung and also used as a prayer.

An interesting talk on "Working Together" was given by Mrs. Noah Taff, which was the meditation talk of the afternoon.

A most instructive and interesting talk was given by Mrs. H. K. Barr on "Broadening the Horizons of the Rural Community."

Following a short business meeting conducted by the circle leader, Mrs. Howard Latham, the hostesses served a delicious iced course to the fifteen members present, and one guest, Mrs. Pugh of Grove Hill, who is visiting her niece, Mrs. J. P. Kelly.

Junior I's Write And Produce Operetta

"The Pharaoh's Caravan," an Egyptian operetta written by Margaret Bickler and directed by Mayo Baker, was presented by the Junior I class of Montevallo High School, Friday, May 12, at 1:30 in Palmer Hall.

The plot concerns an Egyptian princess who is tired of court life and joins her father's caravan to find adventure. She falls in love with a highwayman, really a nobleman, whose family had been exiled from the Pharaoh's court. Together they return to ask the Pharaoh's permission to be married. He angrily orders Elona to her room and tells Amon if he ever sets foot in the court again he will be killed. Amon leaves and Elona slips from her room to join him. Out on the desert they are caught in a sandstorm. Amon, at the risk of his life, returns Elona to her father's court. The old Pharaoh is so thankful for having his daughter returned safely home and so grateful to Amon that he forgives them, and they live happily at the court.

This operetta is an outcome of the Jr. I's study of Egypt. It took a month and a half to produce it. The words of the songs and choruses were worked out by the class. Margaret Bickler directed the music, Mayo Baker the dramatic presentation.

Margaret, daughter of Mrs. Mary Gandy Bickler, Alabama College faculty member, spent three weeks writing the words and music. "Operetta's are very easy to write," she says.

Mayo, who lives on a farm near here, handled the intricate responsibilities of producer, selecting the cast of twenty, and looking after all details of properties, scenery, costumes, make-up, and lighting. Asked how she knew all this, Mayo explained, "I read up on it."

"It occurred to me," said Margaret, "that this might suggest a good setting for an operetta. I started an opera last year, 'The Pomegranate Seed,' but never finished it. I decided it was too pretentious. I once started to write a book on 'The Psychological Side of Politics,' but found out I didn't know enough about the subject and gave it up. 'The Pharaoh's Caravan' is my first work to be produced, and I think it will be quite good."

Margaret and Mayo give full credit to Mrs. Josephine Waller and Miss Ritzpah Dudley, teachers of music and social studies. "Our teachers inspired us to do this," they say.

"And I may add," offered Margaret, "that some of the college girls, who do practice teaching at our school, have been very helpful."

The 12-year-old composer says she has been studying music "6 or 7 years, and I've had 9 teachers." Her present teacher, Prof. York Kildea of the College School of Music, calls her "a remarkable musician for her age," and predicts for her a future in music.

Producer and author admit to some difficulty in the love scenes of "The Pharaoh's Caravan." But not in the writing of them, as might have been expected. Trouble has been with the actors.

"Foots' Parnell, the hero, wouldn't take the love scenes seriously," confided Mayo. "But we've worked on him so hard that he's improved wonderfully. Now he's very serious."

"I have been impressed," she continued, "by the wonderful cooperation of all our cast, which includes all members of Junior I. In addition to 'Foots,' the main characters are Helen Clayton, Ed Jeter Phillips, and Betty Cain. There are 16 others with parts in the operetta, and all other Junior I pupils in the chorus."

In closing the interview, the authoress called attention to the fact that her operetta is complete with slave dance and death chant. "The death chant is especially good," she concluded.

The producer was asked a final question.

"Was your show on a sound financial basis?"

"Perfectly. Our expense was $10. We charged school children 5 cents, grown-ups and college students 10 cents."

Mr. P. M. Cain of Auburn was the guest of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Cain, Sr., the past week-end. Dr. Leah Dennis spent Friday in Birmingham.

Mrs. C. H. Fore and daughter, June, of Columbiana, were guests of Mrs. Grady Carter and Miss Beatrice Fancher last Thursday.

BROTHERHOOD CLASS

"What Alcohol Costs Our Homes" was the subject of the Montevallo Baptist Brotherhood Class last Sunday. The lesson was taught by Mr. R. L. Griffin and was enjoyed by everyone. He made it clear to us what it would do to each and every one of us. After he explained to us these facts, the lesson was discussed by Mr. F. H. Hardy, Mr. M. P. Jeter, Dr. J. I. Reid, Dr. Charles T. Acker, and others of the class.

We had a large attendance of members present last Sunday and we hope it will be possible for everyone to be present next Sunday, May 28. We will have Sunday School and will get through in time for everyone to attend the 11 o'clock service at the college.

We hope you will plan to come and especially we want the ones who were absent last Sunday to be there. Those present last Sunday were: S. J. McGaughy, class president; R. L. Griffin, teacher; Milton Jeter, treasurer; Dr. Charles Acker, Dr. Fred B. Pearson, C. B. Blankenship, M. P. Jeter, F. H. Hardy, Charles Dobbins, T. W. Wooten, Pelham Thomas, Jr., B. B. Nix, A. W. Day, W. D. Carver, Mack Dennis, J. L. Bridges, W. F. Tidwell, John Nix, Mack Nix, Francis Killingsworth, Dr. J. I. Reid, S. R. Woolley, H. W. McGaughy, Travis Killingsworth.

You are especially invited to join us if you are not a member already. You will enjoy it and we will be glad to have you. Time, 9:45; place, basement of the Baptist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Wells of Piper visited their mother, Mrs. P. M. Fancher, Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Fancher accompanied them home for a visit.

Little Buster Galloway, son of Mr. and Mrs. Teck Galloway, is recuperating nicely after a tonsil operation last week.

Surprise Party

A number of friends of the Methodist Church surprised Mrs. A. N. Vail with a party and shower on last Wednesday night at the home of her mother, Mrs. Georgia Averett. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Conway, Mrs. J. M. Splawn, Mrs. J. M. Gardner, Mrs. Houston Bradley, Mrs. B. M. Rhodes, Miss Nell Moreland, Mrs. A. L. Lucas, Mrs. Georgia Averett, and Mr. Aubrey Woolley. Mrs. Vail left Thursday for Jackson, Miss., where Mr. Vail is employed. Their services will be greatly missed in the church here.

Miss Ona Robinson of Wattsville was the guest of Mrs. Abey Robinson last week.

Mr. Sam Splawn is visiting relatives in Arkansas.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Hogan, Sr., spent Sunday afternoon in Montgomery.

Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Vail have returned to Jackson, Miss., after a visit with Mrs. Georgia Averett.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Armstrong of Auburn spent last Sunday with Mrs. Margaret McClendon.

Messrs. J. H. Splawn, P. T. Martin, and Aubrey Woolley organized a Scout troop in Calera Monday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Ira Grant and family of Birmingham spent Sunday with Mrs. J. H. Lee and the Misses Nolen.

Mr. Phillip Harrison, who has been seriously ill in T. C. I. Hospital in Birmingham, has returned to his home. His many friends are glad to see him recovering from his illness.

We were sorry to learn of the death of Joe Davis of Piper last Friday. Joe, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Davis, was a frequent visitor in our town at the home of his uncle, Mr. S. J. Vest. Our sympathy is extended to the bereaved parents.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Ward spent Tuesday in Birmingham.

Mrs. Willard Horton and family wish to thank their many friends here for the kindness shown them during Mrs. Horton's recent illness. Mrs. Horton says the thoughtfulness and visits of friends helped to shorten many lonely days.

Mrs. Ellen Ewing and Nadine Shirley returned Sunday to their home in Akron, Colorado, after a visit with Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Ewing and Eddie.

Mrs. R. D. Gunlock, Sr., visited in Birmingham Tuesday of this week.

The Baptist Brotherhood organization had an unusually good meeting with a record attendance at the Baptist Church Sunday night. New members and visitors are always welcome.

Miss Lavada Ambrose has returned from a visit with Miss Marjorie Harrison in Roswell, Ga.

Messrs. B. J. Rhodes and D. J. Reeder have returned to their work in Blocton.

Phillip and John Harrison spent the week-end in Birmingham.

Mrs. W. K. Gaddy of Stanton is visiting Mrs. J. C. Gaddy.

A poem by Edgar Guest, "Mother's Day," was read by Mrs. Baumgartner, after which Miss Utterback sang "Roses of Picardy," accompanied by Mrs. Waller at the piano. Miss Utterback is always enjoyed, having so many talents and so unselfish with them, she has endeared herself to the hearts of everyone.

Mrs. Baumgartner read another poem by Edgar Guest, "Group Picture," a humorous verse pertaining to mothers' worries.

At the conclusion of the program, Mrs. Duran presented the three guests of honor with beautiful corsages from the Auxiliary.

During the social hour, the hostesses served a delicious iced course to the guests and members present. They were assisted in serving by Mrs. Sara Phillips.

STATE PARKS OPEN

One state park is already open to vacationists and four others will be formally opened between now and June 10, according to W. G. Lunsford, parks division chief in the Department of Conservation. Gulf State Park on the southernmost shores of Baldwin County, was opened May 20 with appropriate ceremonies. On May 24 DeSoto Park, in DeKalb and Cherokee Counties was opened. Other opening dates are: June 1, Monte Sano; June 7, Cheaha; June 10, Chewacla. The five parks comprise 14,471 acres, and offer modern cabins, swimming facilities, fishing, hiking, golf, horseback riding, and other diversions. Modest charges are made for use of cabins. Reservations may be made by writing the Parks Division, Conservation Department, Montgomery, Ala.
